Brisbane and Bay Resorts

REDCLIFFE

The suburban pleasure resorts of Brisbane, on account of their proximity to the capital, are better known than those of the more distant districts of the North and South Coasts. From the metropolis good roads radiate to the many resorts, which, in most instances, are also approached by rail and water. The motorist may enjoy delightful runs to Woody Point, Redcliffe, and Scarborough, which, for vistas of excellent bay and island scenery and passing views of well-tilled fruit farms, are unsurpassed in Australia, whilst fast river and bay excursion steamers and a modern, up-to-date bus service convey an ever-increasing number of patrons to Redcliffe, Woody Point, and Scarborough.

Moreton Bay and islands are a perfect paradise for aquatic enthusiasts, and it would be hard to find a better cruising and fishing ground along the coast of Australia than that embraced in the 10-mile stretch of placid waters extending from Deception Bay to Bramble Bay.

The sheltering influences of Bribie, Moreton, and Stradbroke Islands afford these marine resorts an immense measure of protection from the relentless fury of the Pacific's mighty role, and their sheltered beaches afford pleasant, safe bathing for the sexes with the elimination of all elements of danger. At holiday times, and during the summer season, these resorts attract city folk in thousands, and are ideal places for spending any vacation. In winter they know nothing of severity; indeed, bleak days on the shores of Moreton Bay are so rare in occurrence that inhabitants are apt to forget that they ever occur at all.

REDCLIFFE is the Most Popular of the Bay Resorts—Specially Beloved by Winter Holiday-Makers.

There is no resort close and convenient to Brisbane that has secured such a hold on public favour as Redcliffe. During recent years its progress, as evidenced by improvements in the erection of new villas and cottages, has been remarkable.

Situated midway between Woody Point and Scarborough, on the eastern shores of the Humpybong Peninsula, it is open to the refreshing breezes of the bay, and commands a good view of Moreton Island, at the southern point of which the sand hills are clearly discernible. It was the site of the first white settlement in the area now called Queensland, founded by Oxley on the 30th November, 1823.

It was soon abandoned, and the aborigines, who, no doubt, had taken large if shy interest in the experiment, named the site "Oompee Boang," meaning "dead houses," from the fact that huts and frames of buildings were left standing there. Accident, time, and habit possibly added the aspirate.

There are practically three ways of reaching this favourite resort. The first is the steamer direct from Brisbane, entailing a run of two hours. The fast and well-equipped excursion steamers "Koopaa" and "Doomba," of the Brisbane Tug and S.S. Company, leave the city on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays, and Sundays, and enable passengers to enjoy a delightful and interesting trip on the noble Brisbane River and a quick run across Moreton Bay to Redcliffe. During the height of the holiday season an extended service is afforded. (See advertisement, back page.) Redcliffe also may be reached by an up-to-date motor bus service to and from Brisbane three or four times daily. (See advertisement, page 2.) The road is in excellent condition, and the time occupied on the journey is about two hours by boat and one hour by bus.

Anzac Avenue is situated on this road and is planted with ornamental trees. The avenue cost £30,000, at the end of which is a monument erected to Mr. Rothwell, O.B.E., who was the originator of the idea for the avenue.

Redcliffe, the pleasantly and shadily located, possesses some fine stretches of white sandy beach, where bathing can be enjoyed in perfect safety at all tides. The most popular of these beaches is Sutton's, at holiday times a mass of sportive humanity of all ages and sizes. Robinson's and Margate Beaches, towards Scott's Point and Woody Point, and Queen's Beach, towards Scarborough, also claim their fair share of bathers.

Amusements for visitors are provided for in two good tennis courts recently put down in Centenary Park.

Electric light has recently been installed.

Fishing is good in this part of the Bay, and many good hauls have been made by anglers. Shore fishing comprises mainly whiting and bream; whilst the usual variety of reef fish can be secured in proximity to the various reefs.

A substantial and handsome new jetty, 900 feet long, built under the direction of the Redcliffe Town Council, is now in use, having been officially opened by the Governor, Sir Matthew Nathan, on the 4th March, 1922. It is built on ferro-concrete piles and head stocks, and its total construction has cost approximately £14,000. It has a diamond-shaped head, with somewhat similar bearings and berthings to those which served so well at the old jetty. A pavilion has been erected on the jetty, and is much appreciated by the public. For the purposes of securing the cliffs fronting the sea along the higher portion of the township against erosion, a long sea-wall was built. The Council, ever solicitous for the comfort of visitors and campers, has put down public bores, one with a good stream of water being located quite close to the jetty, and all ladies' and gentlemen's dressing sheds and conveniences for surfers.

Refined and comfortable accommodation can be had at "Seabrae," the most up-to-date and modern guest house on the Peninsula, yet at the Easter and Christmas vacations it is not sufficiently large to cope with the great influx of holiday-makers. To save disappointment, it is therefore imperative that application for the necessary accommodation should be made at least two months beforehand. The same applies to the renting of furnished cottages and villas—which can be obtained from R. Brazier, Scarborough—which, at holiday time, are in great demand at Redcliffe, on the Humpybong Peninsula, and towards Scarborough. A very comfortable picture show opposite the jetty affords a pleasant evening's amusement. The Redcliffe picture theatre shows all the latest pictures; the proprietress is Mrs. E. Beedham.

The winter climate of the Moreton Bay tourist resorts is unsurpassed anywhere in the world. Blue skies, blue seas, warm sunny days, a warm friendly sea tempting sojourners to the surf and the broad but gentle sunlight, renewed vigour for walks and games, are some of the attractions which Redcliffe has to offer winter season visitors.

REDCLIFFE

WOODY POINT and its Restful Beaches

This marine resort is situated on the southern extremity of the hammer-head shaped peninsula of Humpybong, and commands the best panoramic view of Moreton Bay and islands. On four days of the week this place may be reached by taking the steamer from the city to Redcliffe, thence motoring across by a good road, a distance of 3 miles. A regular motor bus service runs three and, in some cases, four times daily to and from Brisbane, the time occupied being about one hour. For particulars of time-table, see page ??.

Pretty, placid Woody Point is an ideal place to spend a quiet holiday, and to the invalid or holiday-maker it offers all that is essential to gaining health and renewed vigour. On the high esplanade of the Point itself stands the Palace Hotel, under the genial management of Mrs. Filmer, where the cool and refreshing breezes render the summer and winter seasons delightful, while the shady beaches below afford restful and sheltered spots for taking one's ease.

Scott's Beach, Woody Point, affords first-class bathing. Being clean, sandy, and safe, it is much frequented by visitors. Good beaches also extend in a westerly direction to Clontarf and Hay's Inlet. A shelter-shed, swings, bathing-houses, and other conveniences have been erected by the Town Council, while the large trees along the foreshores provide ample shade for picnickers.

Woody Point is looked upon as the best fishing ground, and receives a fair amount of attention from city anglers, some of whom have at times had great success with their rods on the jetty. From off the reefs excellent catches are also made of schnapper, squire, sweetlip, rock cod, and bream; whilst the shore fishing provides hauls of whiting, mullet, garfish, flathead, yellow tail, and sole. Sand crabs are also very plentiful, and hundreds of these crustaceans are taken in nets from off the jetty.

Furnished cottages are also available at reasonable rentals. Campers in great numbers avail themselves of this place during extended holidays.

The back country of Woody Point is well adapted for farming and fruitgrowing. The soil is red volcanic, and at no great distance from the sea front well laid out orchards may be viewed. The fruits chiefly grown are bananas, pineapples, papaws, mangoes, and passion fruit.

The old jetty has given place to a fine new pier, between 800 and 900 feet in length, very substantially constructed on reinforced concrete piles.

A well-appointed motor bus and several reliable motor cars ply from Woody Point to Redcliffe. Motor bus fare, 1s.; motor car, 1s. 6d. each way.

SCARBOROUGH—The Attractive and Charming

Scarborough is situated on the northern point of the Humpybong Peninsula, and is within 2 miles of Redcliffe, from which it is reached by motor bus, over a well-made road through open forest country. As a resort for spending a quiet, restful holiday it specially is to be recommended, and for many years past it has enjoyed much popularity among anglers, who find in the open-boat fishing off Reef Point, in Deception Bay, good sport among the schnapper, squire, parrot, sweetlip, emperor, bream, rock cod, and other deep-sea fish.

There is a fine sandy beach with public bath-houses, and at places good shelter right to the water's edge is obtainable.

Scarborough has an ideal winter climate, which is unsurpassed in any other place in Queensland. There is a motor bus service to the door of the hotel, which is under the management of Mr. Sheehy. Motor bus meets the steamers on arrival.

There is a wonderful beach, where safe surfing and good fishing can be had. For a quiet, restful holiday, we recommend Scarborough, the winter tourist's paradise.

RIVER AND BAY TRIPS BY THE POPULAR AND COMMODIOUS STEAMER "KOOPA"

To fully appreciate the charms of our noble river and the wonderful glories of Moreton Bay and its many islands, one must take a trip on the s.s. Koopa, which plys regularly between Brisbane, Redcliffe and Bribie Island. The all day excursion affords ample time ashore at both resorts to enjoy bathing, surfing, fishing and picnicking on the beaches or in the shady nooks of Bribie Island, where cypress pines have for many years been trained to represent all manner of living things, such as the photo in this book represents. No visit to Bribie Island is complete without visiting the famous Novelty Gardens. Everything from an express train to an aeroplane is depicted in growth of cypress pines.

BRIBIE ISLAND—Moreton Bay's Beauty Spot

Bribie Island is an ideal holiday resort, and is reached after a further run of one hour from Redcliffe across Deception Bay. Bribie is about 20 miles long and about 4 miles wide at its widest part. The southern end, which is reached by the steamer, is Bongaree—so named by Matthew Flinders after one of his favourite black boys.

A metalled road to the Ocean Surfing Beach has been constructed right across the island, and buses ply to and from the jetty. Tennis courts and a seven rink bowling green and cricket pitch are available to visitors under certain conditions. An efficient motor service connects the inside or jetty side of the island with the Ocean Beach, and the time-table is arranged to suit the arrival and departure of the steamer. At the jetty, one will see many small launches and boats busy selling fish, oysters, crabs, fruit and vegetables at moderate prices. Bribie is recommended for its fishing grounds, where good sport abounds. This excursion offers visitors to the city something that is equal to any in the Commonwealth, and for the distance (72 miles, including the round trip) is cheaper than any excursion offering. Grand views are obtained throughout the trip, including the Glass House Mountains and Blackall Ranges.

BRIBIE ISLAND—The Rising Resort.

Bribie Island, or Bribie, as it is more conveniently called, is reached by continuing the steamer trip in the s.s. "Koopas" or "Doomba" past Redcliffe to its furthest limits. It is 38 miles from Brisbane, and is reached after a three hours' run from the city, the steamers berthing at a short, well-constructed jetty. Bribie Island and Moreton Island, which lies opposite at a considerable distance, form the most northern outposts of Moreton Bay.

Near the jetty is the Novelty Gardens Kiosk, where fish and oyster dinners are obtainable, and also stores at which campers can purchase requisites. A large pavilion, bathing-sheds, and other conveniences for the use of visitors have been erected. Accommodation is provided for by the Guest House, Elnido, Phone Bribie 15, which is conducted by J. Freese on the most up-to-date lines, and where visitors are sure of the very best attention.

For the excellence of its fish and oysters, Bribie is known far and wide, and during the summer months steamers run to Bribie every alternate Saturday to afford city folk and anglers an opportunity of a week-end at this resort.

Bribie has made rapid and substantial progress during the past two years. An excellent road has been constructed from the jetty across the island to the Ocean Beach, where a handsome and commodious kiosk has been erected by the Brisbane Tug and Steamship Company for the convenience of visitors. The main ocean beach is ideal for surfing, and excellent fishing may be enjoyed nearly all the year round. This beautiful hard sandy beach stretches for miles along the eastern side of the island. Motor 'buses meet all steamers and convey passengers to the ocean beach.

Visitors will see Mr. Bob Davies at the jetty, who will direct them to the Novelty Gardens, which is one of the sights of Bribie Island and must not be missed by visitors or tourists.

MANLY — WYNNUM

On the Blue Waters of Moreton Bay

The traveller who undertakes a tour, finds new delights and novel land, river and sea pictures round every corner. These always interest and surprise.

Most travellers cannot make a world tour. Even if they are in neighbouring countries they should seek the land where things are different; that is, marvellous Queensland, the great north-eastern end of the island Continent of Australia.

Brisbane, the metropolis, has over a quarter of a million population. It is charmingly situated on a wide river, which is one of the finest waterways in Australia. Brisbane has every advantage that the visitor or tourist could desire in a centre from which to make excursions to view the surroundings generally.

Tourists would be well advised when in Brisbane to visit the ever-popular seaside resorts of Wynnum and Manly. It is very doubtful if there is in Brisbane's geographic album a more popular place than Wynnum, being snugly settled on the foreshores of Moreton Bay. Manly, so well known, too, is adjoining Wynnum, is radiantly beautiful with the wonderful views of shimmering blue waters for many miles.

Wynnum and Manly are adequately provided for regarding means of transport. There is a railway to both places, also a very popular line of motor buses, known as the "Pioneer" Line. The "Pioneer" Line caters for the tourists' comfort and pleasure in every detail. The road, which is of bitumen, is the delight of motorists, and tourists have the advantage of viewing with the greatest ease all the farms, etc., where all descriptions of farming, including tropical agriculture, is carried on by the roadside.

Manly and Wynnum are noted for their splendid open beaches, admirable for fishing and surfing, as Moreton Bay's sheltering waters were designed by Nature for boating and yachting and every kind of aquatic sport.

The "Pioneer" Line of buses make the complete round trip, calling at various places on their journey besides Wynnum and Manly. Time-table below will give all information for intending tourist parties.

SANDGATE—The Brighton of Queensland

Being the nearest convenient seaside resort north of the mouth of the Brisbane River, Sandgate has grown greatly in public favour, not only with metropolitan residents, but also with residents of many of the country districts surrounding Brisbane. It is pleasantly situated along the shores of Bramble Bay, is only 13 miles from the city, is reached by a frequent train service from the Roma Street and Central Railway Stations, Brisbane, and by a good motor road from Brisbane.

Sandgate properly might be divided into two sections, the Upper Esplanade and the Lower Esplanade. The former extends from the mouth of Cabbage-tree Creek in a northerly direction for about a mile, and includes Shorncliffe and Moora Park. The Lower Esplanade, including Flinders Parade and Brighton, is more conveniently reached by leaving the train at Sandgate Central Station. This portion of the town has a nice, even water front, the beach along which extends some miles to the northward. Splendid bathing facilities have recently been provided here.

Sandgate, which is now included in the Greater Brisbane area, was proclaimed a municipality in 1880, and has an imposing town hall and many fine private residences. The population is about 8,000, which is augmented by thousands more during the season. The town is lit with gas and electricity.

It has also an adequate water supply from the Upper Brisbane River.

Sandgate possesses a long pier, to which are attached separate bathing enclosures for ladies and gentlemen. Bathing houses and other conveniences are provided along the water front for the use of visitors.

Really good accommodation at reasonable rates is provided by well-kept hotels and boarding establishments. Many city men, while attending to business in town, spend the evenings and week-ends at Sandgate with their families in the enjoyment and healthfulness of the seaside. Furnished cottages may be rented for short or lengthy periods; arrangements for such tenancy may be made with the local agents.

Fishing from the pier and in Cabbage-tree Creek at times is good, but the best fishing is obtained by hiring a boat and locating the whiting grounds, where excellent seasonal catches of this particular variety can be secured. Sand crabs are plentiful.

Like most of the Southern Queensland seaside places, Sandgate is a sunny and climatically delightful place in which to spend a holiday, and there are few days in the year on which there are no bathers in its waters.
